

The WellStar Health System is Accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education as a Provider of Continuing Pharmacy Education

There is no fee for this program

This program has been approved for 1 contact hour (0.1 CEU)

This program is an Application-Based CPE Activity

UAN: 0483-0000-23-020-H01-P

UAN: 0483-0000-23-020-H01-T

Don't Make RASH Decisions: Management of Patients with Penicillin Allergies

Sabah Hassan, PharmD, MSHI

PGY1 Pharmacy Resident

Wellstar Cobb Hospital

Target Audience: This activity is intended for pharmacists and pharmacy technicians

Start date: 7/13/2023

Expiration date: 7/13/2024

Location: Web-based

Learning Objectives: At the conclusion of this activity, participants will be able to:

Pharmacists:

- Distinguish between the types of hypersensitivity drug reactions
- Demonstrate the risks associated with misreported penicillin allergies
- Determine the cross-reactivity between beta-lactam antibiotics
- Interpret the types of penicillin desensitization methods
- Recommend a plan for the management of patients with reported penicillin allergies

Technicians:

- Distinguish between the types of hypersensitivity drug reactions
- Demonstrate the risks associated with misreported penicillin allergies
- Interpret the types of penicillin desensitization methods

Visit <https://wellstar.learningexpressce.com/> to login or sign-up

Participants who view the entire activity, complete and pass the post-test (>70%) and complete the activity evaluation will receive CE credit. Credit will be uploaded electronically and be available in CPE Monitor after completion of required elements.